AMBVI VALENT 2020

Ambivalent grows out of Celler Credo's desire to express the great potential of Mediterranean varieties macerated on the skins. It's a wine of nuances and contrasts, made from an "ambivalent" variety: one that's not white, but not black either – an interplay of dualities that seeks to obtain the most rustic and authentic expression of red Xarel·lo.

Ambivalent is made using grapes from a single vineyard located in the Bitlles valley area, between Sant Pere de Riudebitlles and Sant Quintí de Mediona (Anoia), under 'Turó de la Noguera' (walnut tree hill). The vineyard, with an extension of half a hectare, has loam textured soils.

Ambivalent is a wine that results from Celler Credo's partnerships with growers in the Penedès region with whom we share values and a commitment to sustainable viticulture, rooted in respect for identity, the territory and the landscape.

All Celler Credo grapes are harvested by hand to ensure a precise selection of the fruit and to guarantee its excellent quality. Ambivalent is also made and bottled on our family-owned estate.

The grapes go through the manual selection table and are destemmed before entering the tank. Fermentation is carried out with indigenous yeasts isolated from the vineyards of Celler Credo. For three days, in the same tanks, we perform a careful skin maceration of the grapes with the aim of imparting a characteristic color to this Xarel·lo monovarietal. Afterward, it ages in a 300-liter oak barrel, where we apply a daily bâtonnage with the finest lees.

Bottled in the summer of 2021 and released in the fall of 2024, Ambivalent is a wine that offers great cellaring potential. It may contain natural sediments as a result of our minimal intervention.

Red Xarel·lo

Red Xarel·lo is a grape variety native to and characteristic of the province of Barcelona, the only territory where it's currently grown. It's quite widely cultivated in the Penedès region, and the first references to the variety date back to 1871.

Once scorned because of its colour, its use in winemaking is relatively recent; it wasn't until 2016 that red Xarel·lo was recognised as a wine grape in Catalonia.

Despite the limited presence of red Xarel·lo (it's estimated that there were only 40 hectares registered in the whole of Catalonia in 2020), today it's a highly valued variety thanks to its rustic profile, vigour and notable acidity.

With the aim of exploring the limits, properties and virtues of Xarel·lo (one of the key pillars of our wine project), Celler Credo has been working with this characteristic variety since 2018, the first vintage of our Ambivalent wine.
